1. You jew - els of our Mas - ter, who shine with heav - 'nly rays,
 2. When we be - hold your or - der, and har - mo - ny of soul,
 3. Speak of - ten to each oth - er, to cheer the faint - ing mind;
 4. You shall be mine, says Je - sus, in that aus - pi - cious day,
 5. As Aar - on with his gir - dle, in shin - ing jew - els dressed,
 6. We'll range the wide do - min - ion of our Re - deem - er round,

A - mid the beams of glo - ry, re - flect im - mor - tal blaze;
 And hear di - vin - est num - bers in pure de - vo - tion roll,
 And of - ten be your voic - es in pure de - vo - tion joined;
 When I make up my jew - els, re - leased from cum - brous clay;
 Bore all the tribes of Is - rael in - scribed up - on his breast;
 And in dis - solv - ing rap - tures be lost in love pro - found;

You di - a - monds of beau - ty, with pleas - ing lus - tre crowned,
 The gems of truth are glow - ing with such en - liv - 'ning grace,
 Though tri - als may a - wait you, the crown be - fore you lies;
 He'll pol - ish and re - fine you, from worth - less dross and tin;
 So will the Priest of Zi - on, be - fore the Fa - ther's throne,
 While all the flam - ing harp - ers be - gin the last - ing song,

Of heav - en - ly ex - trac - tion, to Zi - on's ci - ty bound.
We view the Sav - iour's im - age, impressed on ev - 'ry face.
Take courage, broth - er pil - grim; and soon you'll win the prize.
And to His heav - 'nly king - dom will bid you en - ter in.
Pre - sent the heirs of glo - ry, and God the kin - dred own.
With hal - le - lu - jahs rol - ling from the unnumbered throng.

- (1) Zi - on's ci - ty bound.
- (2) pressed on ev - 'ry face.
- (3) etc...
